Keep on boostin'.

Easter Sunday next.

Go to church Sunday, and "ease up" your conscience.

Factories are company to Richmond in flocks.

Hon. Jos. R. Knowland left for Washington Wednesday.

State Treasurer Friend W. Richardson was in Richmond Saturday and called at the oldest newspaper, The Terminal.

Keep your eye on The Terminal for hunches on the new federal building, the location and the new postmaster (the latter a "dark horse.")

A personal letter from Senator Jas. D. Phelan to a Terminal newspaper representative states that Richmond will get all the improvements asked for. Be patient, son. "Rome was not built in a day."

The Cunningham building has increased the value of property in the vicinity of 9th and Madonald 25 per cent. Doc is not charging them anything, however.

The subway still longs for the promised attention of the city engineer who, like Barkus, is quite willin' to do something to improve the underground passageway.

Albany appointive job holdovers are having a siege of acute nervousness. The new board of trustees has only attached the "tinware" to one of the old appointees so far, the health commissioner.

H. B. Hollenbaugh, the expert grocery clerk, has moved into his new cottage on Fourth street.

"United and Untied" Are the Progressives

A handful of progressives wish to return to the republican fold, take possession of the works and label the new creature "United or Untied" Republicans. Simplicity prevails and the simple name "republican" holds good. It is the old story of "Ninety and Nine" and one more makes the "Hundred." Will some good brother lead us in prayer?

POLITICAL COMMENT

A Little "Review" in Advance (By The Terminal's "Atr Mac.")

Richmond will present a dark horse for the nomination for Member of the Assembly, it is said.

E. B. Martinelli is a clean, safe candidate for State Senator and a Republican who has never deserted the party.

U. S. Senator James D. Phelan sent The Richmond Terminal a copy of the bill introduced in congress for the proposed $100,000 federal building for Richmond. The Terminal was the first newspaper to advocate the project in its columns.

Legislative juggling with election laws has mixed party lines to such an extent that voters can be registered in one party and vote in another without a criminal charge being registered for violation of the election laws. A party follower should be permitted to exercise the secrecy of the ballot, but a boss can colonize voters and administer the "double cross" to any candidate for delegate to the Chicago convention singled out for defeat at the May primaries. Regular Republicans, vote a straight ticket, beginning with Walter Bordwell and ending with Charles C. Chapman.

The name, E. B. Martinelli, on the Regular Republican ticket for State Senator from the Contra Costa-Marine senatorial district, like Banquo's ghost, will not down. He is the logical man for this office and it is "Marin county's turn." Any set of bosses who attempt to break this golden tie of Marin and Contra Costa counties, will deservedly lose the respect of the intelligent voters of Marin county, and irrespective of party will slap their candidate of the opposition square in his political face, for working such intrigue on Marin county people.

The Terminal is in receipt of a paragraph marked with a blue pencil, "add political column." The paragraph states: "While you editors are continuously boosting the other fellow into a job, why not help yourselves. I will start you off by suggesting a sound republican, a regular republican (the substantial kind) as candidate for the assembly, Editor E. C. Ebsen of the Pinole Times." The suggestion is a good one. Editor Ebsen should succeed to the position, if he has aspirations in that direction. He would receive the endorsement and a big vote from this end of the county.

Should, by any chance, Roosevelt be nominated at the coming national Republican convention it will be because he is the antithesis of Wilson; it will be because he says he is "for America, first, last and all the time"; because he is supposed to represent real Americanism, patriotism that rings clear and possesses the courage to defend the honor of the United States against the world. But is patriotism so dead, is national honor so rarely respected by our great statesmen that there is only one such in the Republican party to protect the prestige and glory of the American flag? Is there but one great American in these latter days who, if called upon to do so, would not even re-enact the role of Nathan Hale and with his last words say: "I regret only that I have but one life to give to my country."

The political flopper, the Jekyll & Hyde way, is being fully exemplified in Albany. There is nothing like making one's self "adaptable."

ONE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Voters who desire to preserve the Republican party in California against the Machiavellian overtures of the Johnson-Earl outfit, which is now masquerading as the "United" Republican branch of the party, will do well to keep the delegates representative of the Republican party strictly in mind when they vote at the Presidential Primary May 2. In every possible way the "United" Republicans are advertising their saintly intentions of harmony, the while they carry the same old Johnson-Earl in their boot tops. They advise the Republicans to vote the first twenty-six delegates appearing on the Republican ballot, at the same time inviting Democrats, Socialists, Non-Partisans and any other registered voters to mark the same delegates, an action completely in accord with Johnson-Earl principles aided and abetted by the Non-Partisan law.

Republicans, however, will not be fooled in this matter. They will not vote for the list of delegates belonging with Bulla and ending with Collier, but will affix their crosses with the twenty-six delegates beginning with Bordwell and ending with Chapman, for the latter represent the genuine and only genuine delegates of the Republican party.

Remember, Republican voters, that the tricks that were efficacious in the past will be efficacious again unless you are forewarned against them. The United Republicans outfit is the Johnson-Earl outfit, and you know what the Johnson-Earl outfit did to the Republican voters in 1912.—Merced Star.

Perverting the Primary

The very fact that those who call themselves the "United" Republicans are fighting the entire state organization of the Republican party, is of itself the best evidence that they are not in any sense "Republicans" of any kind. They are, in fact, Progressives who are attempting to not only control their own party, but also are trying by fraudulent practice to control the nominations of the Republicans. This is the very thing that the primary laws of California were passed to prevent. But there seems to have been no provision to prevent perjury in declaring political affiliation for the purpose of defeating the party affiliated with the so-called "United Republicans" and Progressives who are taking advantage of this fact to tighten the hold of Hiram Johnson on the offices of the state. That this is true is naively acknowledged by the Fresno Republican, which is recognized as the mouthpiece of Johnsonism in this valley.—Redding Courier.—Free Press.

THE GOVERNOR'S INTEREST

Governor Johnson's interest in the Earl ticket and his relation to the Earl ticket is a personal one. This is the belief of earnest-minded Republicans throughout the state and charges to this effect have been repeatedly hurled by the campaign committee for the Republican list of delegates.

It is the Republican claim, and there is considerable to substantiate this claim, that Governor Johnson is merely trying to capture the Republican party's organization in this state to meet his own personal ambitions in politics. The Herald has announced time and again that the administration is trying to capture the Republican organization. Such statements, too, have come from all parts of the state. Governor Johnson ruled Earl's action.

Had Governor Johnson come out in the open and declared war on the Republican organization he would at least have the respect of the Republicans. The way the political situation stands now the Governor is charged with fighting through Earl as the best way to capture the party. He is credited with the fear that he could not win if he came out in the open. But the Governor had better announce his own fight. He gets the credit of an attempt to capture the organization without the -redit of having the courage to fight in the light, or the confidence that he could win.

Republicans might just as well get their politics straightened out. If they wish to vote for Governor Johnson they will support the Earl ticket. If they wish to support the Republican party they will vote the Republican ticket.—Fresno Herald.

Foot Slipped From Hub, Leg Broken

Buildings in Course of Construction, Planned or Occupied Since First of Year Cost $4,150,000, and Bids Will Be Opened on Many Others

San Francisco.—There are eighteen large factory buildings in course of construction or contracted for, or occupied since January 1st, representing contracts totaling $4,150,000, according to statistics compiled by the Chamber of Commerce.

These do not include warehouses or buildings other than actual manufacturing plants. The one exception to this is the $1,500,000 dry dock to be constructed at Hunter's Point, bids for which will be opened on April 27th. This, however, represents the largest industry in San Francisco in connection with a great amount of shipbuilding going on. The largest factory building constructed is that of the Rainier Brewing Company on Bryant street; it is a sixteen-story and basement concrete structure, 137x260 feet, costing $710,000. The American Can Company building is a $300,000 steel and concrete addition to this plant on Third street, two stories and basement, 200 by 352 feet.

There will be a wooden structure for the manufacture of boxes adjoining this building. The Western Sugar Refining Company is erecting a thirteen-story and basement steel and concrete addition to its plant in the Potrero district. This building will be 150x150 feet, and will cost $40,000.

The Ford Motor Company has laid the foundation for a five-story and basement concrete addition to the present plant for manufacturing purposes at Twenty-first and Harrison streets. The structure covers an area of 125x127 feet and will cost $200,000.

The John Bollman Company is constructing a three-story and basement concrete factory at Fourth and Brannan streets, covering 137x260 feet and costing $125,000.

The Great Western Power Company has partly under construction a class A substation on Bush street, near Grant avenue, which will cost $100,000.

Frye & Co. will soon erect a three-story meat-packing plant, with spur track 160 by 100 feet, at Front and Sacramento streets, costing $50,000.

M. J. Brandenstein & Co. are having a five-story and basement concrete rice mill constructed on Third street, 150 by 160 feet, to cost $200,000.

The D. Ghirardelli Company is letting a contract for three new class A buildings, costing $100,000, in addition to the present chocolate factory.

The Workman Packing Company has completed a two-story concrete factory, 125 by 135 feet, costing $75,000. The new plant is at Seventh and Harrison streets.

The Lewis Packing Company has just occupied its new $30,000 three-story and basement concrete factory on Columbus avenue, 75 by 100 feet.

The Kleiber Truck Company has broken ground for a new concrete and glass factory on Folsom street, 101 by 300 feet, to cost $75,000.

Rudger-Merle Company is building a three-story mill, 275 by 207 feet, at Bay and Stockton streets, to cost $40,000.

The Sperry Flour Company will erect a demonstration building and other additions at Sansome and Green streets, 97½ by 60 feet, to cost $25,000.

The American Marine Paint Company has let a contract for a two-story and basement concrete and steel addition to its plant at Bryant and Rincon streets, 25 by 90 feet, costing $12,000.

The Merchants' Ice and Cold Storage Company completed a seven-story addition to its plant the first of this year, costing $60,000.

In addition to the eighteen factories mentioned, the Overland Automobile Company is erecting a six-story concrete building at Bush street and Van Ness avenue, where all repairing will be done. This is the third largest reinforced concrete building in the city, the Pacific building and the building used temporarily for the City Hall on Market street being the only two larger ones.

WOLF DOGS VICTORS IN ALASKAN SWEEPSTAKES

Nome, Alaska.—Leonard Seppala, driving his team of 17 Siberian husky dogs with which he won last year's race, April 14 won the 412-mile All-Alaska sweepstakes race for dog teams. Seppala's time was 80 hours and 27 minutes. Fay Delzene's team of fourteen Alaska-bred malamutes was second and Fred Ayer's team of fourteen foxhounds was third.

Sacramento.—According to figures compiled by the experts of the Earl Fruit Company, after a thorough investigation of orchard conditions in Northern California, it is stated that the fruit yield for the year 1916 will be about normal.

Redwood City.—A realty deal of much importance to the peninsula was completed here April 14, when a deed conveying all the unimproved property in San Carlos Park to the San Francisco Peninsula Company was placed on file by the Mercantile National Bank of San Francisco. The property is valued at $300,000, and $150,000 actually changed hands.

Burlingame.—To accommodate this city's rapidly increasing population, Rev. Dr. Brewer, pastor of the Episcopal Church of Hillsborough, is contemplating the erection of a new church in this city, the present structure in Hillsborough being considered too far from the center of population. A committee has been chosen to select a site.

Redwood City.—The Congregationalists of Redwood City are to have a new church. Most of the funds have already been subscribed, L. P. Behrens and D. W. Williams leading the subscription list with subscriptions of $200 each. Plans for the structure indicate that it will be one of the handsomest sacred edifices in the bay district.

Redwood City.—With the breaking of ground for a new moving picture theater on Broadway comes the announcement that another is to be built on Main street. The Masonic Hall Association, formed recently, has given out that its plans include not only a temple and three stores, but an up-to-date movie theater. Work is to be started on the $50,000 building in the early summer.

Visalia.—John A. Wilson, who shot and killed Monroe Brinkley, his daughter's sweetheart, near here, June 6, 1915, has been brought back from San Quentin, where he was serving a sentence of ten years, to be tried a second time. The Supreme Court recently handed down a decision ordering the rehearing of the case on the ground that an error had been made by Judge Wallace of the trial court in instructions to the jury.

Fresno.—Judge Austin, April 14, in Department 1 of the Superior Court, granted a noli in the will contest of Mrs. Alice Baird Hurd of San Francisco, brought to break the $255,000 will of her father and the case was thrown out of court. Attorneys for Mrs. Baird announced that they would appeal. Mrs. Hurd alleged that her brother, now deceased, poisoned her father's mind against her and that was the reason she was practically disinherited.

OFFICIAL STATEMENTS FROM THE EUROPEAN WAR ZONE

GERMAN

Berlin, April 14.—The official statement today says: "Western theater: Apart from occasional lively artillery duels in the region of the Meuse there is nothing to report. Attempts made by the enemy to attack on the left bank of the Meuse were arrested by our artillery fire as the attacking parties left their trenches."

"Eastern theater: Army group of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg: Minor enemy advances in the region of Garbunowka, northwest of Dvinsk, and south of Lake Narocz were repulsed with sanguinary losses."

"Expeditions of Russian detachments against the position on the Servitche river, north of Zirin, held by the army of Prince Leopold of Bavaria, were similarly unsuccessful."

"Balkan theater: East of the Vardar river the enemy yesterday displayed at intervals considerable artillery activity. In the course of Wednesday night, April 12th-13th, enemy aviators dropped bombs on Givogeli and Bogodance, east of Givogeli, without doing any damage."

"Pershing in Night Fight with Bandits. Villistas Fire on Supply Train and Auto of General is in Thick of Fray"

Chihuahua, Mexico.—General Pershing himself was in the thick of a thrilling battle Thursday night, April 13, when forty mounted Villistas attacked a supply train with which the headquarters staff was moving southward to this new base, 400 miles below the border. At least one Mexican was killed. No Americans were hit.

The attack occurred fifteen miles north of here and was believed to have been led by General Tarango, and resulted in sharp fighting for twenty minutes and the rout of the bandits. Shortly after dusk the Villistas opened fire on the fifth car of General Pershing's escort, which car was preceded by an aero truck. As the bullets of the first volley whistled between the front and rear seats of the escort car the lieutenant in charge of the aero truck ordered lights extinguished.

Throwing themselves on the ground around the cars, the guards of infantrymen and truckmen raked the mesquite in the direction from which the firing had come. After five effective rounds had been delivered the Villistas transferred their attack to the eleven auto trucks in the rear.

Lights had been kept going on these trucks to illuminate the mesquite in which the Villistas were maneuvering. As soon as the bandits came into the glare, infantrymen and truckmen opened on them from both train sections. The Villistas fired a few desultory shots, wheeled their horses, and fled into the brush.

The next morning the dead body of one of the attackers was found in the mesquite. The nearest to a hit scored by the bandits was a bullet through the hat of Private Harry Gonsmead of Philadelphia, attached to Company K, signal corps.

Near to the scene of last night's attack is a Constitutional camp, where three bandits recently were killed in a brush with Carranzistas.

As a sequel to the fight the column arrested, April 14, on a topped mesa at a gap between the base here and the camp of the pack train, four Mexicans of that same, puny, grotesque type described in my dispatch of the 10th.

They came upon the troopers crying for liquor, the while protesting that they were Carranzistas, belonging to the command of General Garcia. They said they were on the way to the near-by town of Cisnegos.

They were disarmed by our troopers. On the four were found two modern revolvers, two antiquated rifles and one machete. The men are believed to be freebooters and are held prisoners pending General Pershing's decision.

Afflictions.

Conundrum.

Why is a watchdog bigger by night than by day? Because he is let out at night and taken in in the morning.

FRENCH

Paris, April 14.—The official communication today says: "In the Argonne, our batteries have been active in the region of St. Hubert, where German works were damaged. Our batteries have been active also against roads used by the enemy in the region of Montfaucon and Malancourt."

"To the west of the Meuse during the day the artillery of both sides has been active in the region of Le Mort Homme."

"To the east of the Meuse our second lines have been bombarded. In the Woivre there were some volleys by the artillery."

"To the west of Pont-a-Mousson we scattered convoys on the road from Essey to Nonard."

"There is nothing of importance to report from the rest of the front."

"Belgian communication: The day has been quiet in general along the Belgian front, except to the south of Dixmude, where some artillery actions have taken place. Our batteries caused a German depot of ammunition to explode."

"No Signs of Unfriendly Feeling Among the Japanese for America Says Grant"

Portland.—Japanese citizens of every class admire Germany and her war achievements. The ruling Japanese are imbued with the same warlike spirit that possesses the Hohenzollerns, and are anxious to increase their domains. But there are no signs of an unfriendly feeling toward America.

This news is brought to Portland by U. S. Grant, Jr., of San Diego, Cal., who arrived April 14 from an extended tour through the Far East. Compelled to go to Japan by way of Sydney, because the steamers running from Honolulu to Yokohama were crowded, Grant studied conditions in the Australian metropolis at first hand.

"The streets of that city are full of young, able-bodied men who go around as though nothing unusual was going on," he declared. "Sydney alone could raise an army as large as the one that the whole island has sent to the front."

And I noticed that the people are very friendly, but now they say, 'Why didn't the United States help protect Belgium?' If England was willing to go to war to save this little country, why didn't America, which is big and rich, also declare war on Germany? This seems to be the reason for their hatred, which is very manifest."

LOSSES OF BRITISH ARMY OFFICERS ARE HEAVY

London.—Officers' casualty lists for the month of February show that the British army lost 263 killed, 597 wounded and 16 missing, a total of 875. This brings the aggregate loss since the beginning of the war to 23,962, of whom 7420 have been killed or have died of wounds, 14,755 wounded and 1787 missing or prisoners of war.

In February losses were heaviest in the Indian contingent operating in Mesopotamia and near the Persian gulf, the returns showing 63 officers killed, 155 wounded and 7 missing.

Royal Engineers lost 6 killed, 40 wounded; Yorkshires, 8 killed, 33 wounded; Field Artillery, 13 killed, 23 wounded; Canadians, 5 killed, 18 wounded.

Brigadier-Generals Hodson and Harvey were killed in February. Four Lieutenant-Colonels were killed and four Brigadier-Generals wounded.

GRAND JURY INDICTS VILLA FOR MURDER

Deming, N. M.—The county Grand Jury, which has been investigating the Columbus raid, returned an indictment April 14 against Francisco Villa, charging him with murder in the first degree. Similar indictments were returned against two of the eight bandits captured after the raid.

STATE'S GRAPE CROP WORTH $25,000,000

Commissioners of Viticulture Give Details Regarding California Industry

San Francisco.—The market value of California's grape crop for the year 1915 is given in a bulletin just issued by the State Board of Viticultural Commissioners on "The Grape Industry of California," as over $25,000,000.

Of this immense productive revenue, the raisin crop yielded a heavy contribution, the selling price of the 248,000,000 pounds marketed being given in the bulletin as $10,000,000, and netting the producers a profit of $2,000,000.

Last year was also a prosperous season for the table grape growers, the long dry fall giving the most favorable climatic conditions for picking and packing. The total selling price of California table grapes last year is given as $8,814,000 shipped East, and $700,000 worth consumed within the State, making a total value close to that showed by the raisin producers.

That the year was not a fortunate one for the wine makers was due to the war revenue tax, it is said, which caused the sweet wine production to fall off enormously, the total selling value being given by the bulletin as $1,800,000, against a normal of $4,000,000.

The market selling price of all the dry wines made in the State in 1915 is given as $4,000,000.

The deduction drawn from the figures by the bulletin is that 360,000 tons of grapes were crushed in wine-making last year.

The dry wine production of 1915 in the State is given as 21,571,000 gallons, against a normal of about 25,000,000 gallons.

It is estimated that less than 1000 tons of grapes were used in the manufacture of unfarmed wine juice.

It is estimated that the total acreage in vines in California is now in the neighborhood of 330,000 acres. The outlook for better conditions as regards wine grape producers for the 1916 season is said by the bulletin to be favorable, with indications of $12 contracts for sweet wine grapes, where last year the price was $10, and in some sections even as low as $7 a ton.

MAYOR LAYS CORNER STONE OF CITY LIBRARY

$1,153,000 Structure Started With Appropriate Exercises

San Francisco.—The corner stone of the Civic Center Library building was laid last Saturday afternoon by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., and the Board of Library Trustees. The exercises commenced at 2 o'clock.

The stone was set at the southwest corner of the edifice, where Larkin and Fulton streets intersect.

Edward Robeson Taylor, president of the Board of Library Trustees, delivered the opening address. Architect G. W. Kelham, who designed the building, and Library Trustee Joseph O'Connor, chairman of the building committee, spoke. John D. McGilvray, Jr., whose company is supplying the granite for the big structure, presented a silver trowel, which Mayor Rolph wielded in laying the corner stone.

The building is to be ready for occupancy before the end of this year. Its cost, completely furnished, is placed at $1,153,000. It occupies the block bounded by Larkin, McAllister, Hyde and Fulton streets. Architecturally this steel, granite and brick structure harmonizes with the new City Hall and the Exposition Auditorium in the Civic Center. Architects say that very few public library buildings in the country will compare with it for size and attractiveness.

BIT OF REAL POLAND

VILLAGE IN ASIA MINOR HAS AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

Peopled Many Years Ago by Veterans of the Crimean War, the Community Has Maintained Its Purity and Independence.

Hundreds of miles from Poland, in Turkish territory, not far from the Black sea and the Bosphorus, there is a Polish village. It has been there for 60 years. But the news of its existence will come as a surprise both to the world at large and to the Polish Poles of Poland.

The village was "discovered" recently by a German journalist, the correspondent of a Berlin newspaper, who was watching the fighting at the Dardanelles. He sandwiched in between his dispatches describing death and destruction on the Gallipoli peninsula an interesting description of this peaceful and forgotten bit of old Poland under the title of "A Polish Island."

The village was founded back in the fifties of the last century during the Crimean war. Among the Russian soldiers fighting in the Crimea against the British and French and Turks were some from Russian Poland. Of these a number were captured by the Turks and taken to Scutari, opposite Constantinople, in Asia Minor. There some Polish noblemen, bitter enemies of Russia, found these men, and hit upon the idea of emancipating this handful of their fellow-countrymen from the control of Russia. Foremost among these noblemen was Prince Adam Czartorisky, a very wealthy man, who, from his own pocket and out of funds collected by him from other Poles who hated Russia, purchased lands in Asia Minor from Turkish owners and there established the Polish prisoners in a village of their own.

On that spot the prisoners and their descendants have continued to live to this day. When the German journalist visited the village he found a few of the original colonists still living. The villagers, he writes, are genuine Poles, still speaking their native tongue. The noblemen who founded the village fetched the wives of many of the prisoners from Poland when the village was first started, and their offspring have intermarried among themselves, thus preserving the purity of their race. None of them, says the German writer, has married a Turk or even learned the Turkish language that is spoken on every side of this little "Polish Island."

Much Timber Wasted.

Fifteen per cent of the timber cut in the United States is wasted every year and government experts are engaged in a number of experiments to determine to what extent a huge money loss to the country may be prevented by utilizing the waste.

One of the interesting experiments under way is the utilization of sawdust in the manufacture of alcohol. These tests have hardly more than passed an experimental stage, but technical men are optimistic as to the ultimate success of the process. Another interesting possibility is the utilization of hydrolyzed sawdust as a carbohydrate cattle food.

The use of wood for producer gas, according to officials, deserves more extended introduction in industrial plants. Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce, in a report to Secretary Redfield said that the manufacture of plastics from wood, as well as the manufacture of wood flour, has not been developed in the United States, and that European nations are far in advance of this country in the utilization of such by-products.

"Hobobism Is a Disease."

"Hobobism is not a habit, but a disease." "There are 2,000 to 4,000 homeless men in Cleveland today—hoboes, tramps and bums."

"On the Trail of the Hobo," was the subject of Rev. John A. Gray, in a lecture in sociology in the extension division of the University of Minnesota, and formerly pastor in New York, who spoke under auspices of the Cleveland Lyceum bureau at East Cleveland Congregational church, Euclid and Page avenues, East Cleveland.

Rev. Mr. Gray based his assertions on a two weeks' investigation of Cleveland's homeless problem, during which he lived among hoboes, tramps and bums in the city's cheap lodging houses.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Bullets Which Trail Fire.

After many months experimenting, J. A. Sambrook of Ellesmere Port, England, has invented a bullet which travels at a tremendous velocity, which, he asserts, will pass through a Zeppelin like a comet through space and instantly blow it up.

The invention consists of an ordinary-sized bullet charged with a special preparation which ignites with its passage through the air.

The bullet can be fired from an ordinary rifle, and is easily adaptable to aircraft and machine guns.

SCHEME FOR MAKING MONEY

When Irving Bacheller was running a newspaper syndicate and publishing a juvenile magazine in New York he always sat in a large porch rocking chair before a fat desk so heaped with letters that every few minutes a little epistolary avalanche would shoot down from it to the floor. One day Orson Lowell, the artist, who was a partner in the magazine, found him in a more than usually meditating mood, and said to him:

"What's the matter, Irving; got an idea?"

"Yes," answered Bacheller, very slowly, "a big one. One that will make us all rich. You know the great auk is extinct, and that there are only four of its eggs in existence. They are worth thousands of dollars apiece, and a great auk itself would be priceless. My notion is to get these eggs and hatch 'em."

"But how will you hatch them?" asked Lowell.

"Oh," answered Bacheller, wisely annoyed, "I haven't given that point any thought yet. But it's a mere detail—a mere detail. The plan is bound to succeed. And it will make us all rich."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Practice

"I have no sympathy with these emancipated women who want to omit the word 'obey' from the marriage service, and put themselves on an equality with men."

"Yes, I believe with you, Mrs. Snap, that a man should be the master in his own house. By the way, my husband was disappointed that you did not join his poker club. Why didn't he?"

"Oh, he wanted to badly, but I wouldn't let him."

Poor Listener

"What was the lecturer's subject?"

"From the Cradle to the Grave," answered Mrs. Dubwaite, who escorted Mrs. Dubwaite to the hall under compulsion.

"Was the address worth hearing?"

"I can't say. I fell asleep during the 'cradle' part, and when I woke up the lecturer had just spoken the final words in the cemetery."

Woman's Way

"I must say it's hard to give you up," said the disappointed suitor.

"Well, if it will make the parting any easier for you, I'll introduce you to a friend of mine who will help you to forget me."

"You are very kind."

"But, on second thought, I won't. If he did that I would never forgive her."

KEEPING HIS WORD.

She—My husband promised me that I should never hear a harsh word from him in all of our married life, and I never have.

He—H'm! How long have you been married?

She—Let me see. Just two days and four hours.

No Novelty

"When I took Mrs. Gaddy out for an automobile ride she was nervous all the time for fear we should strike somebody."

"What was all put on. She's used to running people down."

The Vehicle

"So the fight was suspended for awhile, you say. Did the defendant go home in the interim?"

"No, sir; he went to the hospital in an ambulance."

JOKE ON A PRACTICAL JOKER

Inoffensive Citizen Turned on Him, Hit Him Between the Eyes and Then Jumped on Him.

The practical joker was sauntering along in the dusk. The inoffensive citizen was sauntering along in the same dusk, unmindful of the presence of the practical joker. The practical joker, recognizing a friend in the inoffensive citizen, chuckled to himself and quickened his steps to overtake him.

The inoffensive citizen was thinking of a story he had read about foot-pads, and wondering whether anyone would ever try to hold him up. The practical joker suddenly tipped the inoffensive citizen's hat over his eyes.

The inoffensive citizen wheeled instantly and landed a fine, large blow between the practical joker's eyes.

The practical joker went down on him and hit him again. The practical joker yelled:

"For heaven's sake don't hit me again, John. Don't you know me?"

The inoffensive citizen said, "Great Scott!"

The practical joker said, in an injured tone: "Hang it all, John, it's only a joke."

The inoffensive citizen looked at the practical joker, who now had one eye closed, and laughed. The practical joker angrily asserted that it was no laughing matter.

"But you said it was a joke," returned the inoffensive citizen, "and I think you are right."

And he laughed again. But the practical joker hasn't been able to see the point of it to this day. Still, it was unquestionably a good joke.

Deeply Moved

"Your lawyer made an eloquent plea in your defense. He evidently believed you innocent."

"No, he didn't," answered the defendant.

"But you must have said something to him that strongly influenced him in your favor?"

"So I did. I showed him my bank roll and said: 'Fifty-fifty if you get me out of this.'"

A Happy Thought

"I heard you holding gay converse with the janitor this morning."

"Yes."

"This seldom the great man un-bored."

"Quite true, but this morning I had occasion to borrow a corkscrew from him and I invited him up to my apartment to see that highly useful device in operation."

HIS REVENGE.

"Yes; she quarreled with Tom and returned all his presents!"

And he hers?

"Every one of them. Why, he even went so far as to send her half a dozen boxes of face powder with a note explaining that since he first met her he must have taken that much home on his coat."

Keeping Up Appearances

"How about some hair tonic?" suggested the barber.

"What for?" inquired Mr. Growcher.

"So as to preserve your hair, of course."

"Let it fall out. I'm too old to be handsome, and my only hope of looking intellectual is to become bald-headed."

Not to Be Trusted

Grandmother—Did you get a letter from your husband this morning?

Young Wife—No; I expected one, but the carrier tells me the mails have been very irregular this week.

Grandmother—This week fiddlesticks! They always have been that way; you can't trust one of 'em out of your sight.

A Sure Way

The meeting of the suffragette club was on in deadly earnest.

Worse Still

"Is there anything more pathetic than the low-browed husband of a high-browed wife?"

"Oh, yes," answered the advocate of culture.

"I can't imagine what it is."

"A husband and wife who are both low-browed."

You Never Can Tell

Race of Woman Warriors.

The word Amazon is Greek and was used thousands of years before America was discovered. According to tradition, it was applied to a race of female warriors who had the form but hardly any of the attributes of women.

In order that they might hurl a javelin or aim an arrow more effectively, the right breast was removed to give greater freedom to the arm; hence the name Amazon from a Amazon, without breasts. In works of art, sculpture and painting, the Amazons were represented with the right side, the place of the removed breast, covered.

The Amazon river in Brazil was so called by the Spanish explorer who discovered it because he said he encountered fighting women there.

Best Proof That Resinoid Heals Eczema

In our file of reports, covering a period of twenty years, literally thousands of physicians tell how successful the Resinoid treatment is for eczema and similar skin troubles. The first use of Resinoid Ointment and Resinoid Soap usually stops the itching and burning, and they soon clear away all trace of the eruption. No other treatment for the skin now before the profession approval.

Resinoid Ointment and Resinoid Soap work so gently, and are so absolutely free from anything that could injure the tenderest skin, that they are ideal for healing the skin troubles of infants and children. Sold by all druggists. (Adv.)

Wasn't Calling Her Dear

"Is this a good one?" she asked, as she picked up a dainty little machine. "What is it called?"

"That's the Belvedere," said the handsome young shopman politely.

There was a chilly silence. The young woman drew herself coldly erect, fixed him with an icy stare and asked again:

"Er—and can you recommend the Belva?"—Kansas City Star.

MAKE CARVING EASY

Devices That Will Be Welcomed by Many.

Inventor, It Would Seem, Has Introduced Something That Should Prove to Be a Boon to Suffering Humanity.

The focal remarks of Mark Twain and other humorists about the difficulties and embarrassments of the man with the carving implements presiding over the roast of meat or fowl will no longer apply when the dining tables are all supplied with the meat holder which has recently been patented by a Denver man.

Mark Twain said in one of his stories that he always refused to carve except in dining rooms where the wall paper matched the color of the gravy, so that any unfortunate mishaps might not do any serious damage to the mural decoration. To one who has carved, it does seem that the usual plate on which the roast is placed for the cutting operation is inadequate and invites disaster, for a little slip of the meat will be the means of projecting a stream of the gravy over some unfortunate person seated around the board.

Two metal members with prongs on their inside are made to surround and secure the meat by bringing their two

A Deep One

Johnny stood beside his mother as she made her selection from the huckster's wagon, and the farmer told the boy to take a handful of cherries, but the child shook his head.

"What's the matter? Don't you like them?" asked the huckster.

"Yes," replied Johnny.

"Then go ahead and take some."

Johnny hesitated, whereupon the farmer put a generous handful in the boy's cap. After the farmer had driven on, the mother asked:

"Why didn't you take the cherries when he told you to?"

Baby Monoplane

What is undoubtedly the smallest successful monoplane in the world has recently been constructed by a Californian. In addition to this distinction the machine is almost as unusual in design as it is in size, for it is driven tail first by an ordinary seven horsepower, twin-cylinder motorcycle engine. It weighs, complete with its gasoline tank filled, only 238 pounds, has a wing spread of 18 feet, an overall length of 16 feet, and a supporting area of about 90 square feet. The motor drives a 4-foot propeller at about 1,400 revolutions a minute, giving the craft a speed of nearly 60 miles an hour. The power plant is placed at the extreme rear of the machine, so that its weight is balanced by that of the pilot who rides several feet ahead of it. The machine has been driven a number of times, and during these flights has remained in the air from 15 minutes to half an hour.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Wrong Stocking Stolen

On one of the coldest nights this winter Mrs. Annie Dietz of 115 Mechanics street prudently wore woolen sleeping hose when she went to bed.

Testifying in court against Michael Arenewich, who was held in $500 bail on the charge of burglary and attempted theft from person, Mrs. Dietz said:

"As I was placing a roll of $400 in my stocking I heard a slight noise, and looking out thought I saw this man stepping back from my bedroom window.

The next instant I knew I was awakened by feeling one of my stockings being pulled off. Before I could turn on a light the intruder jumped through the window and disappeared with my left stocking."

The chief reason why Arenewich was charged merely with attempted theft was that Mrs. Dietz put the money in her right stocking.—Hartford (Conn.) Dispatch to New York World.

The Man With No Initials

Playgoers everywhere will regret to hear that that fine actor, Mr. Charles Hawtrey, has had heavy financial losses owing to the war.

Mr. Hawtrey can be as humorous off the stage as he is on it. On one occasion he was talking to a friend about peculiar names and initials.

"By the way," he said, "I have a friend who is in a most unfortunate position. He actually has no initials."

"No initials?" exclaimed his friend in amazement. "Why, how can that be? Haven't he got any name?"

"Oh, yes," answered Mr. Hawtrey, with a twinkle in his eye. "But you see, each of his names begins with an aspirate and, being cockney, he always drops his h's."—Redman's.

May Be Valuable Find

Workmen digging in the bay of Guanabara, Rio de Janeiro, recently brought up a quantity of pure phosphorus. Acting on the belief that a deposit of value had been tapped, the government was advised of the discovery and it has ordered an investigation to determine the probable size and value of the body of mineral.

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Knitting Under Difficulties

Miss Lillian Trotter of the Algiers Mission band writes that the native classes that used to work on native embroidery and lace at the different stations of the mission in North Africa have now, in view of the European war, resolved themselves into more immediately useful knitting classes for the Red Cross.

"The children took vigorously to the new craft, even though knitting needles had to be long nails or umbrellas ribs. Yarn proved as scarce as needles, so we started spinning it from sheep fleeces, thus giving employment to the older women for whom times were hard."

Hospitals are great and necessary institutions, but they should be the last resort for women who suffer with ills peculiar to their sex. Many letters on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., prove that a great number of women after they have been recommended to submit to an operation have been made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here are three such letters. All sick women should read them.

Marinette, Wis.

"I went to the doctor and he told me I must have an operation for a female trouble, and I hated to have it done as I had been married only a short time. I would have terrible pains and my hands and feet were cold all the time. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured, and I feel better in every way. I give you permission to publish my name because I am so thankful that I feel well again."

—Mrs. FRED BRENNER, Marinette, Wis.

Detroit, Mich.

"When I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so run down with female troubles that I could not do anything, and our doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. I could hardly walk without help so when I read about the Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others I thought I would try it. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and used them according to directions. They helped me and today I am able to do all my work and I am well."

—Mrs. THOS. DWYER, 989 Milwaukee Ave., East, Detroit, Mich.

Bellevue, Pa.

"I suffered more than tongue can tell with terrible bearing down pains and inflammation. I tried several doctors and they all told me the same story, that I never could get well without an operation and I just dreaded the thought of that. I also tried a good many other medicines that were recommended to me and none of them helped me until a friend advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The first bottle helped,

Regular Republican Slogan is "Vote Bordwell to Chapman"

Salvation of Party
Is Issue in California

For the success of the Republican Party in California, at the presidential primary election May 2, vote for the 26 candidates nominated at the legally called Regular Republican Convention held at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, March 4, 1916.

This convention was attended by 500 in person and 300 by proxy and was composed of the members of the State Central Committee and the various County Central Committees throughout the State, these being the legally-elected representatives of the party.

This convention named 26 plain, ordinary representative Republicans, not classified old-line Republicans, not classified administration Republicans, but Republicans whose names guarantee that they can be relied upon to do their full duty toward all Republicans and insure harmony in the party and victory over Democratic watchful waiting and misrule.

Opposed to the Regular Republican ticket is the Johnson-Earl "hydro-electric" hand-picked clique selected at the St. Francis Hotel, February 26th, by some fifty "invited" guests of Earl, representing only the Earl interests, but now masquerading as "United" Republicans whose admitted purpose is for disharmony.

All good citizens should register their protest against the present iniquitous primary law permitting the evils of colonization and elimination of parties.

The Regular Republicans stand for an honest primary law and for the reservation of the parties against all those who now seek to destroy them.
